MILO NEWS

Miss Hazel Gilliland is attending the Calgary Normal School. Miss Harriet Heather spent a week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Borchers of Ranier.

Miss Barbara Haymond of Cluny spent the week-end with Miss Lois Umscheid.

Mr. and Mrs. Ordie Lahd who recently returned from overseas spent a fortnight with the latter's parents at Gleichen.

Flying Officer Lorne Cunningham, Mrs. Cunningham and daughter Myrna and Mrs. William Mallet have returned from the coast.

The Edward Tester farm has been purchased by Arie Vooya. This is the old Captain Wainwright farm, consisting of a section on the edge of the old Hardwick lease.

Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Bertrand have returned from a vacation spent at Banff and Radium and Mr. and Mrs. V. J. Bertrand from a holiday at Jasper, Edmonton and Banff.

Miss Harriet Heather is leaving for Calgary to attend the Technical School and take a course in dressmaking and Miss Lois Umscheid is taking a beautician's course at Beaton's Salon.

The U.F.W.A. meeting which should have been held in the month of September was postponed due to rain and bad roads and will be held at the home of C. Umscheid on October 17th.

Mrs. Janatta Northcott and son Daryl flew from Lethbridge to Vancouver to meet her brother William Oiler who has been overseas for over four years. Harold Northcott is also visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Oiler of Vancouver.

The Queenstown Ladies' Aid of the United church held their monthly meeting at the Legion hall with a goodly number in attendance. They are planning holding a bazaar, tea and sale on Saturday, Oct. 20 in the afternoon. Don't miss this as a good time is anticipated.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Tester spent a few days in Innisfail. Mr. Tester of Innisfail suffered a heart attack and is forced to give up farming. Ted has purchased the family farm at Innisfail and will be leaving the Milo district where he has resided for the last five years.

The experienced nimrods of the district are going around with crimson faces. Ever since the season opened they have been pitting their skill with gun and goos-calls against the wily goose. Most of these efforts have been in vain. The other day a beautiful flock were going over town and suddenly one goose was seen to leave the flock and head like an overdue stork, straight for a chimney. The miracle was explained when a red-headed freckled-face thirteen-year-old Eon Thomson, gun in hand went over and claimed his bird.

Wild Geese Plentiful
The ducks and geese appear to be unusually numerous this season. Some farmers are complaining of great damage to crops particularly those that are in the swath. Mr. Ben Mensinger's crop is particularly affected. A number of hunters west of Milo brought down seven fine geese this morning.

Heavy Precipitation
The present wet spell is longest ever experienced in this district and over 2 inches of precipitation have been received. It certainly emphasized our need of gravel roads. No bus arrived for a week and since the bus carries the newspapers, our only communication was by phone and radio. School vans experienced the most difficulty since the larger divisions were formed and the transportation of high school students to and from Cluny presented a real headache.

Only Newspaper
Milo experienced a real newspaper isolation during the recent storm and wet weather. For an entire week the only newspaper delivered in the town was the High River Times. It was read from stem to gudgeon including the advertisements. By the way, those of you who are interested in the early history of Alberta and folks who put out this weekly paper should send for the book entitled Johnny Chinook by Robert E. Gard. It opens with a very personal account of the personnel of the High River Times.

Correspondence

Vulcan, Sept. 28, 1945.
Vulcan Lions Club,
Mr. A. Sales, Secretary.
Dear Sir:

At our regular meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion, which was held on Thursday evening, September 27th, it was decided that our Society donate the sum of $200.00 toward the Memorial Swimming Pool which is being sponsored by the Vulcan Lions Club.

In accordance with the above decision I am enclosing a check for $200.00.

We, the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary, feel that no more fitting memorial could be erected than a swimming pool, which will fill a great need in our town and community. As our society is composed of the mothers and sisters of the boys and girls of our town and district who served their country in this war, many of whom gave their lives, we feel it is indeed a true memorial that gives honor to those who lost their lives, and at the same time be a benefit to the community, and will bring happiness to so many, especially the children.

Inclosing may I extend to your organization our sincere wish that your goal for funds will be achieved very shortly.

Sincerely,

MRS. JACK MARSHALL,
Sec.-Treas. Ladies' Auxiliary,
Canadian Legion,
Vulcan Branch.

Tillsonburg, Ont.,
Sept. 24th, 1945.

Vulcan Advocate,
Vulcan, Alta.

I am enclosing a money order for the sum of two dollars in payment for the Vulcan Advocate for one year. I hope everything is well with you, but I understand that the crops were "not so good" this year. I am fine and busy all the time, working in a department store here in my old home town of Tillsonburg, so am familiar with my work and the customers. Business is good. This is partly a tobacco growing community, as well as large dairy farms, so business men haven't as many financial worries perhaps as the prairie people. However, I am still very fond of "Sunny Southern Alberta" for climate.

Best regards to your staff,

(Mrs.) A. M. PETTMAN.

Southern Alberta Wheat Yield

Final estimates of wheat yields in that part of Southern Alberta covering Alberta crop districts 1, 2 and 4, roughly approximating the district served by the C.P.R. Lethbridge division, have been issued by the Alberta Wheat Pool, showing a total wheat production expected of 27,017,000 bushels against a production of 84,600,000 for the whole of Alberta. This would indicate that this corner of Alberta will produce approximately one-third of all the wheat in Alberta this year.

Labor conflict in United States has made almost 2,000,000 workers idle.

Rockies. He was unfavorably impressed with the gloom that seems to permeate the Canadian public generally and the summer resort employees particularly. Calling one girl to his table, Floyd asked her if she would like to make a dollar easily. The girl of course asked what she was required to do. Floyd handed her the dollar and said: "For the rest of today, greet each customer who comes in with a smile and a cheery greeting." We venture that if she did, the lesson was of more value to her than any amount of money that might accompany the request.

An amusing story is being told on Elmer Vannatta and Jack Willard. It appears that Elmer's little bug went off the road in the recent muddy spell and into the ditch amidst about seven feet high sweet clover. Jack Willard came along and gave him a push and then was to walk through this sweet clover and find a place where Elmer could climb back onto the road again. Jack in telling the story says that "Elmer nearly ran over him and he had the darndest time to keep out of his road." Elmer says that "Jack Willard is the fastest runner he ever saw. He tried his best to keep up to him and had the Ford wide open but he still could not keep Jack in sight."

DIALS WITHOUT HANDS

Capt. Allan Piper of Cornwall, Ontario, has no hands. He lost them overseas. But he can now dial a telephone number, make intricate toys in his home workshop, work his own garden and handle his pre-war job as foreman in a paper mill. How he does it will be shown in the new Victory Loan movie, "Valiant Company," to be shown throughout Canada soon. The purchase of Ninth Victory Loan bonds will help thousands of other Canadians to overcome physical handicaps incurred in their battle for Canada's freedom.

Swimming Pool News

Donations to date have reached $5,000 or the half-way mark.

The big carnival on October 18, 19 and 20, will add to this sum but many individual donations are still needed.

There is no doubt that the citizens of the town and district are behind the enterprise as is illustrated by the number who come in as volunteered donations. Other encouraging signs are that the teenagers are donating their hard earned wealth and that the ladies are getting behind the project almost one hundred percent. This is evidenced by the contribution this week of $200, second largest donation to date, from the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion, and word from various other ladies' organizations that donations will be forthcoming shortly.

The pool is now definitely set at 25 feet by 75 feet and a depth from 2½ to 8½ feet. We expect to carry full details in an early issue.

With such whole-hearted support there is no longer any doubt that the objective will be reached in ample time to have the pool installed next spring. However there is no point in delaying your contribution if you have not already made it. The fund stays open until the full objective is reached.

If it is fun you are looking for—be on hand for the big carnival in the Vulcan arena on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, October 18, 19 and 20.

Three pledges were omitted in the last list of donations. These were D. L. Doane, $5.00; Mrs. R. McKinnon $10.00, and Richard Broderick $20.00.

HONORED AT SHOWER

A miscellaneous shower, honoring Miss Lillian Clark, whose marriage takes place this week, took place at the S. Tuttle home on Saturday evening when Mrs. Tuttle and her daughter Esa entertained more than twenty friends of the youthful bride-elect. Two interesting contests arranged by Mrs. Wismer provided an hour's entertainment after which Miss Tuttle, accompanied by Mrs. Jim Clark, re-entranced decorated with pink and blue streamers, and white and red carnations centred the tea table. Mrs. R. Clark, mother of the guest of honor, pour d'ete. Assisting the hostesses in serving were Mrs. Harry Smith, and Mrs. Wismer. Later a small gaily decorated wagon, piled with many lovely gifts, was drawn into the room and presented to Miss Clark by Miss Tuttle. Mrs. Cliff McAskie assisted her sister in unwrapping the presents, which were passed around the room for the guests to see. The bride-to-be thanked her friends in a few well-chosen words and expressed the wish that they could all visit her in her new home. NATIONAL CLOTHING DRIVE

THIS week Canadian people are asked to extend their thought to the plight of people of Europe. Canadian people are asked to contribute clothing to help cover the unclothed and destitute masses of suffering Europe. The slogan "What can you spare that they can wear," conveys briefly what is asked of this country. It is recognized that clothing shortages have prevailed in many lines in Canada, and that demand for replacement still is considerably in excess of the supply available for civilian wear. If people gave the clothing which they are now using, and then turned round and tried to buy new clothing, it would create further difficulties of supply in Canada. So all that is asked is a contribution from unused clothing which will not entail immediate replacement.

There are few homes which do not have some articles laid away unused, and with no immediate use in prospect. These articles may be outgrown by the original wearer, or they may be out of style. They may be shoes or rubbers; coats, suits, dresses and so on. If they still have a period of wear in them they are urgently needed for this campaign.

During the war Canadians have been relatively well-clothed. They may have suffered minor inconveniences, but these are not to be mentioned in comparison with the stark poverty, the utter destitution prevailing in most European countries liberated from Nazi pillaging.

Innumerable people were rendered homeless as the chariots of war rolled over villages and farmsteads. If refugees escaped with their lives, it was only to wander bereft over waste land or to be impressed into slavery. Every resource of home and belongings was lost to them.

Part of the work going forward in liberated Europe is to restore homes, to bring families together again to reawaken hope and life in starved, numbed people young and old. Without clothing against the rigors of the coming winter, they cannot survive. At the very best, supplies of food will be allotted sparingly. Fuel will be scarce. They must have covering if they are to live to see the dawn of a happier day. And at once.

This is the reason for the call to the people of Canada. Locally the campaign is engaging the support of every organization. All the mechanics of collection and assembly have been provided for. It remains for the individual to do his or her part in order to demonstrate once again that there is a real sense of compassion and brotherhood active in our lives. Make this campaign a success by your contribution. Search through closets and find something that they can wear that you can spare.

"SOMETHING I SHOULD TELL YOU"

WHENEVER a person approaches you with the opening words: "There is something I feel I should tell you," cold chills play up and down your back bone. Particularly if you have children. If you have children, you almost faint waiting for the bad news. Why is that so? Because nine times out of ten your apprehensions are justified. Your friend feels it his duty to pass on some distressing bit of news that he has heard about you or yours. There is a cruel streak in humanity which seems to express itself in this way. Of course it is always clothed in laudable purpose and righteousness. They tell you "for your good," because it is good for a person to be made sad. More often than not, the bad news is vague, nothing you can actually get your teeth into, just "what people are saying." And this is a further twist of cruelty because it leaves you still unable to fight back, or to trace the charge down to its original source.

One time out of ten the friend who starts off with "There's something I feel I should tell you," has a good and cheery bit of news to pass on. He is full of the milk of human kindness, and if he has heard something kind or commendatory he believes in carrying the word to the person to whom it will do most good. As he passes it on, your chills subside, and your paralyzed nerves relax. It is incredible but true that he is actually taking thought to tell you something pleasant and kind that he has heard about you. Through sheer relief your life of spirit is out of all proportion to the importance of what he tells you. You feel stimulated and warm, and under that stimulus you communicate your good feeling to everyone you meet.

It would be quite a different world if people were as eager to spread good news as bad; if they felt it as necessary to make people happy as to make them downcast. Once in a long time it may be an act of true friendship to bring some unpleasant fact home to the person most deeply concerned, and it should be accepted in that spirit. But as a rule tale-bearing is prompted mainly by a desire to make mischief. It is not the best way to win friends, because the unhappy recipient is most inclined to centre resentment on the bearer of the tale. And rightly so.

Pertinent Topics

Discussed by H. C.

At the conference of foreign Ministers in London, Mr. Molotov was surrounded by his own bodyguard of detectives and plain clothesmen. In Czarist days the government of Russia was defined as an absolute monarchy qualified by assassination. This totalitarian regime lays claim to democracy, but absolutism remains, qualified by fear at least of assassination. Rulers who have caused millions of their compatriots to be slain or exiled have reason for fear, not from other nationals but from their own. They are liable to be followed by avengers into other countries just as their agents pursued Trotsky until they potted him in Mexico. One wonders if Mr. Molotov has noted the freedom with which leaders of other democracies roam the streets of London, and one wonders too if he wonders why.

It is a fair guess that General MacArthur will come a cropper, a sort of share-cropper with the late Admiral Dewey. There was no reason why Dewey fell from his pedestal save that it was too high and public opinion was fickle. MacArthur is giving public opinion a chance to drop him for a better reason. He talks too much and sometimes out of turn, and is too free in his criticism of colleagues. Whether he has ambitions to be President or not, he likes to toy with the idea. He is vulnerable in that he is serving under a Democratic Commander-in-Chief and as a Republican must contest the nomination with Thomas E. Dewey if he would run for President.

A batch of new Rhodes' scholars is soon to be on the way in Canada after a few years' inaction. If the output were stopped altogether it would do no harm for, with some brilliant exceptions, they come back starchy-eyed doctrinaires or agitators ever critical of Britain, certainly not the product. Cecil J. Rhodes thought his foundation would create. How and why so many of them get that way has never been satisfactorily explained, but one man who ought to know avers that they go to Oxford with great expectations, including the expectation of being made much of, and are disillusioned when treated as if they were run of mill.

Whatever advantage press conferences may give civil leaders they are a positive detriment to military leaders. General Eisenhower has been pretty discreet and diplomatic in his public utterances, but even he should leave press conferences to Mr. Truman, his Commander-in-Chief, forbid General Patton and all his other subordinate officers from holding such meetings. Military officers should welcome the ban for many a General's fine military reputation has been damaged by word of mouth, and that mouth his own. A General may suffer in silence but seldom through it.

Labor would do itself service by refusing to fall for and follow the agitators who are now leading it into overt acts and excesses. Their solicitude does not spend itself in doing anything for men now being discharged from war work but in demanding that others do something. If they succeed they take the credit; if they fail they have an additional grievance which they can exploit, ostensibly in behalf of labor.

An elevator man in New York has nothing against the office-workers who go up and down with him every day. They are good friends of his and tip him generously, yet they are the people he injured when he went out on strike. He did not discommodate the owners of the big buildings much, but he did the professional and business men who have offices in those buildings, and their help. We could easily have lost the war if we had started out by antagonizing and injuring our friends.

Major MacFarlane lost his job as editor of the army newspaper Maple Leaf because he criticized the repatriation policy. Officials of the C.B.C. are more discreet. They take no chances.

Riotous demonstrations in Montreal over meat-rationing show that the authorities are trying at least to enforce the regulations. There was no such hellery there over the liquor and gasoline regulations.

The lack of independent action by members of parliament has not escaped the notice of Mr. Hansell, Social Credit M.P. for Macleod. The free and independent electors go to the polls and elect representatives, but this democratic process usually is halted at the ballot box. After that the representative usually follows his party leader, regardless. He may put up a fight for his own opinion in caucus but if he fails he rarely follows up his opinion into the chamber. Uninfluenced by patronage of which he possesses none, an Opposition member has more freedom of action but he must needs give some regard to party solidarity and his own chances of renomination.

A government supporter is more securely fettered. If he rebels he may lose patronage and thus lose the respect of many of his most active supporters who regard that as his chief sphere of usefulness, and he gets the black looks of fellow members who ostracize him as a traitor to the party. Of the few English supporters of the government in the last parliament who showed any independent spirit how many are in the Commons now? None. Many Quebec members rebelled too, and they are still there, but then successful rebellion is not treason.

Protests From Student Nurses

Students at Calgary General Hospital Claim Failure in Instruction. Nancy Burke and Ruth Forrest Present Views

Two student nurses of the Calgary General hospital, Nancy Burke and Ruth Forrest, were given the responsibility of presenting a complaint from the student body of Calgary General to the hospital board. Every one of the approximately 100 students signed the letter of complaint. Miss Burke was spokesman, and the complaint set out that supervision and instruction in the hospital "have been decidedly lacking" in the past few months owing to resignations and dismissals of some of the best supervisors.

The board discussed the complaints embodied in the formal letter and these will come later before the house committee. A plea was entered for the assurance of health, welfare and program in training. It was charged that students are badly overworked, and there was also mention of inadequate meals, and even badly prepared food, presumably to keep expenses down. The 12 hour day should be superceded by an 8 hour day; pay should be increased, and recreational facilities provided. It was proposed that there be a complete reorganization of the training school.

Miss Burke, appearing before the board, said that discontent had been growing in the last year or two, and that complaints had been presented to the management, but without action.

Miss Hebert, superintendent, claimed she had never refused to co-operate.

BEYOND COMPREHENSION

Things I wouldn't understand about the army if I lived to be a 30-year man:

Why the guy who has the least privacy of any human being is called a private.

Why a ten-minute break only last five minutes.

Why an officer of the day has to stay up all night.

Why there are such long periods between paydays and such short periods between CQ's.

Why it always gets cold the day you put on sunbats and always gets hot the day you put on OD's.

Why you come to a halt instead of running like mad when the bugle sounds retreat.—Armored News.

NICE MONOPOLY!

Alberta bought $6,300,000 worth of liquor and beer last year, sold it for $20,000,000 and made a profit of $5,800,000.

A profit of $5,800,000 on $6,300,000 is so close to 100 per cent we don't need to argue about it. Nobody else could make such a profit without being convicted as a profiteer and going to jail.

And, of course, the $5,800,000 didn't represent all the profit from the traffic. There were more than 400,000 liquor permits at 50 cents each, and all the fees paid by hotels and clubs for the license to sell beer.

We can quite understand why Mr. Stalin is all in favor of government monopolies.—Leth. Herald

Adjusting Beef Herds

(Lethbridge Exp. Station)

Concern has been expressed in some quarters over liquidation of beef cattle holdings this fall and winter. The fear has been expressed that such liquidation will reduce potential meat supplies a year or two from now. To the writer of this letter these fears appear needless. In fact, in most respects considerable liquidation seems to be the soundest action that can be taken.

Fundamentally Canada is overstocked with beef cattle at the present time and the same is true of the United States. In the west we simply do not have sufficient feed reserves to carry our present cattle load and that will be even more true if 1946 turns out to be a dry year.

The second factor is that on the basis of markets available previous to the war our cattle stocks will be hard to move after the present war-time demand subsides. As the European production of livestock gradually returns to normal we may expect a reduced demand for our meat stocks. This demand is at an all time high at present. None but the wishful thinker believes that there will be no change in this situation.

There never has been a more favorable situation for liquidation of beef cattle stocks. Our hog production has been reduced drastically. The world is crying for meat at prices that are generally acceptable to producers. There is no apparent limit to the amount of meat that can be disposed of once it can be put into consumer form. The limiting factor is the physical capacity of our processing plants.

In the face of this situation what is more logical than to reduce our holdings to a more nearly normal level during the next year with emphasis on culling the inferior stock. There never was a more favorable time for such action. This does not imply an unrestrained flooding of the market. It requires a careful analysis by each individual producer of his present holdings, his ability to provide a continuous, adequate supply of feed for his stock, and a survey of the quality of that stock. Meat is in so strong demand that even the lower grades are readily accepted. This provides an opportunity that may never come again to reduce herd numbers to the capacity of our feed resources and at the same time to build up the average quality of our herds to a level higher than they have been before. Quality will become important again when competition for markets once more becomes a reality.

Why Worry

In the meantime, the conditions still exist for a pleasant and easy existence provided we do not place any emphasis on the false value of money. Our chief natural resources can be enjoyed as they were thirty or forty years ago. Our equable climate, our painted sunsets, our invigorating atmosphere, our luxuriant verdure, our rich soil, are given to us to make of them what we will and we continually lament the dearth of money, which, after all, will only buy us a large dinner when we have enough to eat, or more beds when we can sleep only in one, or a plurality of wives when one is sometimes more than enough.

It takes time to bring about reform, and in the meantime, why worry? (Stettler Independent)

Christmas Seals

Enough Christmas Seals to cover two acres—29 million—have arrived in Alberta for distribution to nine local Seal committees. Preparations are already under way for the campaign to raise funds for the 1946 anti-tuberculosis work of the Alberta Tuberculosis Association, sponsored by Rotary Clubs in Cardston, High River and Red Deer, and Kinsmen Clubs in Banff, Calgary, Drumheller, Edmonton, Lethbridge and Medicine Hat.

In 1927, when the first Christmas Seal sale was held in Canada, Alberta's death rate from TB was 55 per 100,000.

Last year the rate was 35.7 per 100,000. It would be incorrect to give Christmas Seals all the credit for this remarkable reduction, but every person who has bought those colorful little stickers at Yuletide can feel justly proud of his, or her, contribution towards the ceaseless war against what Sir William Osler called "The Scourge of Mankind."

Premier Manning has announced that no new lotteries will be permitted to operate in Alberta. Those now selling tickets have to the end of the year to wind up operations.

Help Those Who Need Clothing

"None have suffered more than the working classes in liberated countries of Europe from the years of enslavement that the Germans imposed on them in their ruthless attempt to dominate the world. Few of them, when their countries were overrun by the enemy, were left with more than the clothes which they happened to be wearing at the time; and these have long since lost all semblance of their original purpose."

This is the reason for the National Clothing Collection which will be conducted in Canada from Oct. 1 to Oct. 20.

Safeguards In Hog Breeding

A good arrangement for providing exercise for breeding stock on hog farms is to have the sleeping quarters approximately fifty yards from the feeding shelter. If farrowing time is to come in winter, some artificial heat is desirable, at least sufficient to prevent chilling temperatures in the pen until the pigs are a few days old. The common pig brooder may be too expensive when there are but few farrowings during the winter. For one or two winter litters space may often be provided in a building where sufficient other stock is housed to prevent the temperature from becoming low. After a few days, the litter may be moved to another shelter if desired, but the new born pig should be protected from cold temperatures at first.

The pig cabin is useful for farrowing in moderate weather and convenient for housing a few pigs at any season. By banking the cabin with manure and straw it can be made comfortable for growing or mature stock even in cold weather. It should be constructed on skids for convenient moving to clean ground, so important to the health of young pigs.

Plans for a hog cabin or pig barn are free upon application to your nearest Dominion Experimental Farm, or to the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Put Farm On Business Basis

There Are Some People Who Have Yet to Make Their First Income Tax Return

(Contributed)

Many so-called small business men previously operated on the principle that the increase in their bank account at the year end, represented that year's profit. They have found that the keeping of adequate records, forced on them by Income Tax regulations, has provided them with information they would not want to be without. It is probably even more advantageous for a farmer to keep records as they can actually be made to pay a handsome dividend.

Our income tax laws, as is the case with any laws applying to groups in widely different circumstances, could actually work a hardship on the farmer who waits for the year end to consolidate his receipts and expenses. For instance, take the case of a farmer married with no children who shows a profit of six thousand five hundred dollars in one year and the following year, through hail or a crop failure shows a profit of only five hundred dollars. He would pay over eight hundred dollars more income than the man on a salary making the same net earnings over the same period. The Act, however, allows a farmer, through the purchase of livestock to even up his earnings but this must be done before the year end and then he can, only if he has the facts and figures. A small set of books which would give him these figures would therefore put him in the tax paying class to which he belongs.

On the other hand there are farmers who have yet to make their first income tax return. These people would be well advised to approach the Income Tax officials, state their case and ask how many years return they would need to make, and then file returns for those years to the best of their ability. The evasion of this duty is like telling the Income Tax department to take what they want out of their estate, as an arbitrary assessment will inevitably be levied. If necessary the estate could be replenished by adequate life insurance, both for the payment of succession duties and to make up any deficiencies, so that the estate would not have to be liquidated to pay the taxes.

Bacon

Quality Danish bacon, which can be shipped into Britain in 48 hours, compared with a nine-day ocean trip for Canadian brands, undoubtedly will be a big competitor in Britain in the post-war years of trade ahead. But through a long-range policy aimed at stable Canadian production and high quality it is hoped Canada will keep a 400,000,000 to 500,000,000-pound slice of the peacetime British market, which will have an import potential of 1,000,000,000 pounds.

Part of this policy involves encouragement of the Canadian hog producer in premiums for highest grades, freight assistance on feed, and literature which urges him to think in terms of volume as well as quality.

Despite the present heavy demand for Canadian pork products, hog production this year will be away down from the peak of last year, due mainly to improved grain marketings, and therefore less feed.

Britain Needs 26,000 Million

(Grant Dexter in Lethbridge Herald)

There has been talk of the United States putting up $6,000 millions to help the U.K. regain her feet. It is pointed out, however, that it would not be possible to accept this as an interest-bearing loan or even as a loan to be repaid in principal. To do either, it is held, would be beyond the capacity of the United Kingdom and the only possible upshot would be default and repudiation. In the process any world trade agreement would be shattered and the problem of today would return in aggravated form. There are suggestions that the United States might make a gift of this amount and call it pre-lend-lease aid. But the suggestions do not come from any responsible corner.

All this will make it clear that there is endless room for disagreements and friction in these discussions. The Economist has summed up the present position of the United Kingdom in this way: sterling debts amount to $12,000 millions in terms of the U.S. dollar; pre-war assets have been spent to the sum of $8,000 millions; the deficit on current account to be met in the transition period is estimated at $6,000 millions. All told, therefore, the United Kingdom is short some $26,000 millions, a sum which for a victor contrasts strangely with the proposed indemnity of $20,000 millions to be imposed upon Germany.

TREAT HOME TOWN

The ascent of a greased pole shot to a value of $200, Sept. 20, as the bounty of Harry S. McLean unloaded itself in Merrickville, Ontario, his home town. Long anonymous but later widely publicized as the donor of hundred and lesser dollar bills in military hospitals, railway stations and at random spots along the streets of several Canadian cities, MacLean poured $3,000 into the prize coffers of Canadian Legion sports day.

Bob Edwards' "Eye-Opener"

In his issue of the High River Eye Opener of August 22, 1903, Bob Edwards drops hints to indicate that he has been kicking over the traces once too often. One gathers that the Eye Opener has been refused circulation by mail; that High River is not too pleased with the editor, and that he is thinking of moving to Calgary. He has a bitter word for he decides to publish a weekly story from the Bible. He the "they say" gossips. But to pour oil on troubled waters narrates the story of David and Goliath, and does very well till he tries to find an analogy in current times. The Boers put their trust in divine favor, but they were licked in battle, so his Bible lesson goes flat.

High River Eye Opener, Aug. 22, 1903

Yes, yes. This paper will appear henceforth with unfailing regularity. Horace says: "Mingle a little folly with your wisdom." We've been following this advice with considerable ardor but find that it doesn't pay, so we propose trying the converse of the proposition. If you get your paper regularly you'll know we are doing all right.

Let us not despair of continued prosperity. The Calgary Brewery is to have another addition put on to double its space. This has honestly no relation to our contemplated move to Calgary. They were going to build the addition anyway.

The Okotoks Times has started up again for the umpteenth time under new management. The new management gets hilarious over the Eye Opener being shut out from the mails for immorality and so on, but the Eye Opener with all its faults never was guilty of a breach such as is found on the front page of the Okotoks Times, second column, 26th line, in the issue of August 18th.

They Say

"They say" is the biggest liar in Canada or any other country. Gullible and weak minded yaps are invariably the prey of the "they say" artists. They swallow any old piece of gossip, the more mischief in it the better when prefaced with familiar old "They say." Inquire as to the identity of "they" and no satisfactory answer is forthcoming. This is due in most cases to fear of being compelled to make good their words by being confronted in the presence of the gossiper with the original "they" if such exists. Recourse to this trick of piling up the burden of malice on the shoulders of a mythical "they" is a lamentable sign of moral timidity.

A Rock Bound Coast

Those Doukhobour ladies round Yorkton who find it necessary to take off their clothes and march athwart the scene in order to be strictly religious would do well to keep far, far away from High River until the present moral wave has broken on this stern and rock-bound coast.

David and Goliath

Being exceedingly anxious this week to propitiate disapproving church folk and show them that we are ready to give them something they will approve, we present one of those "Lessons for Sunday" which lend sparkle to high class newspapers. In view of the recent Jefferson-Corbett fight at Frisco we have selected the subject of David and Goliath.

"And Saul armed David with his armor." The Philistines were the most bitter and implacable foes of Israel. When Saul became King, Israel's hereditary enemy was soon at war with him. In ancient times it was a custom that a champion should come forth from either army and challenge anyone on the opposite side to meet him, not necessarily for the gate receipts, but to settle the issue absolutely in single combat. This saved much bloodshed. The victor won divine approval, the vanquished was disapproved.

Time went on, and the Philistines gathered their armies to battle. Then Saul and the Israelites lined-up. Goliath came forth from the ranks of the Philistines and began to josh and insult the Hebrews. But none would venture single combat till our brave David stepped out in front with his little sling.

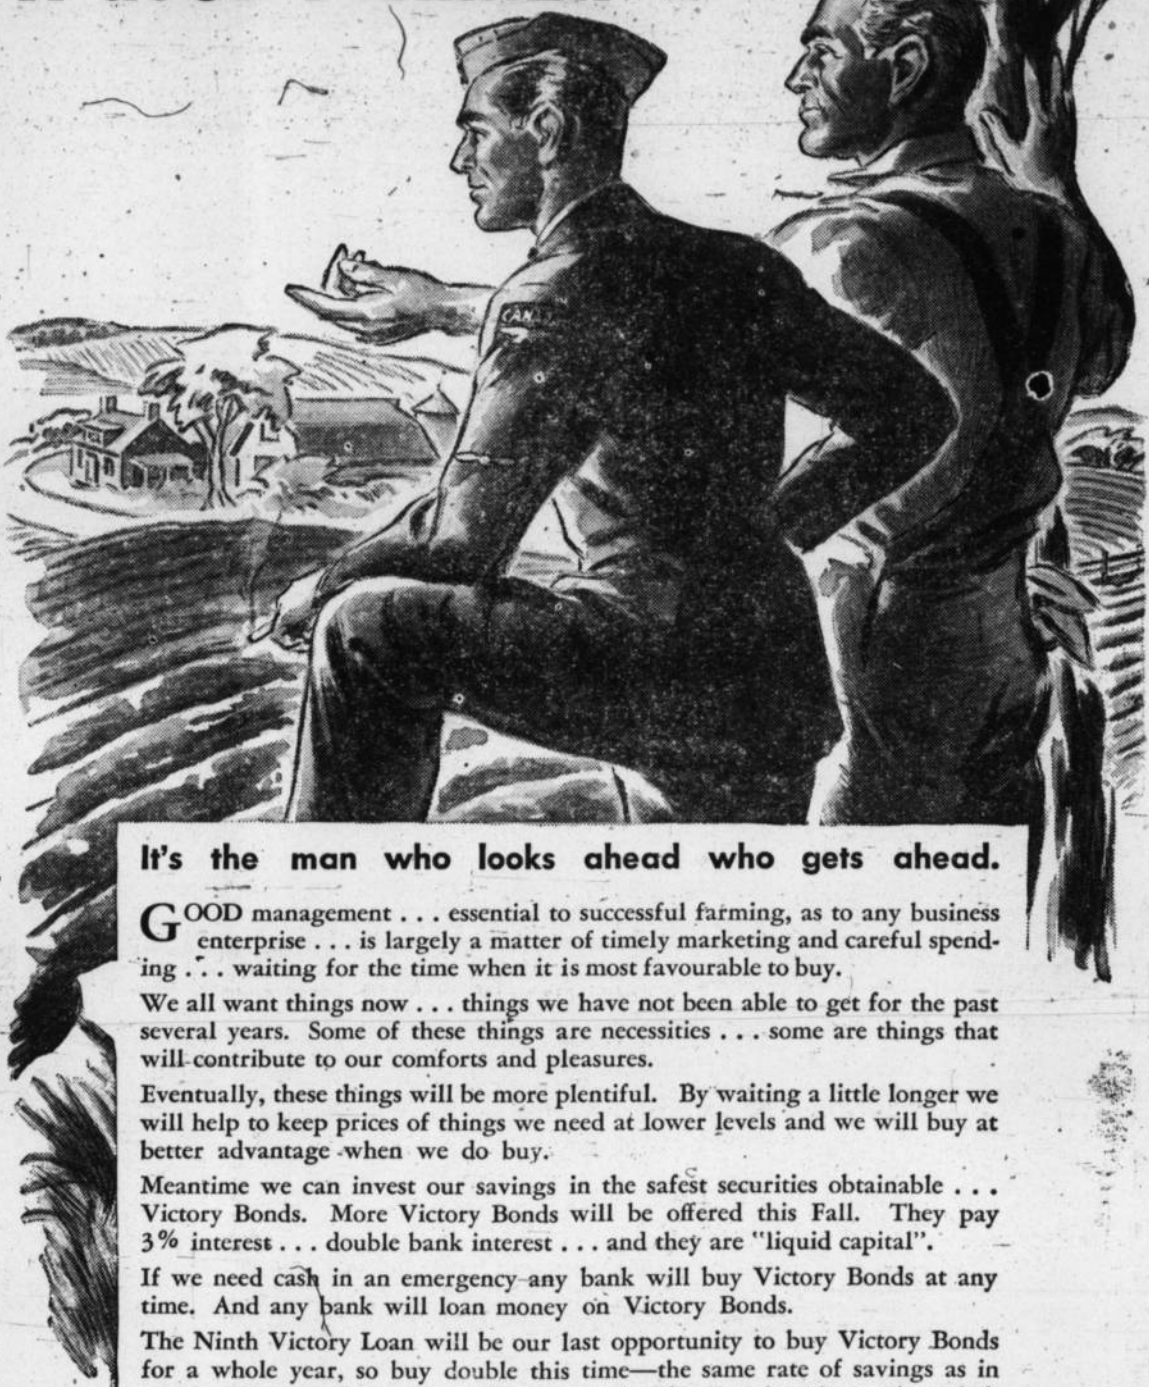

Then followed the fall of vanity. When the giant "looked about and saw David he disdained him for he was but a youth and ruddy and of fair countenance." He intimated to David that he would eat him up. But in spite of this derision, couched no doubt in language unfit for publication in a newspaper which has been refused the mails, disturbing the balance of David's self-control, he answered in gold-weighted words "You come to me with sword and spear and shield, but I come to thee in the name of the God of Israel." Then the shepherd lad, with the little sling that had stood him in good stead to fight off beasts threatening the flocks, took a stone from his bag, and placing it in the sling, sent it on its errand of death. Bible records that David "slang the stone and smote the Philistine on the forehead." Or in revised language he outslanged Goliath, despite the latter's abusive vocabulary.

And where (my dear paid-up subscribers) was the secret of the giant's failure? Not in any defect of strength or previous prowess. He was so famous for his courage as to make Israel's army quake. He certainly didn't throw the fight.

What then was the secret of David's success? David was mindful of how the Lord had helped him in the past. Out there in the open where lions and bears were the terror of the flocks, the young man had fearlessly slain them. He did not claim victory under his own power, but his abounding belief was that divine favor would use him to humble the haughty Philistine.

And now my dear paid-up subscribers, what is the great lesson to be applied to our own day. Confidentially this phase of our Bible story has us stuck. We cannot follow through. The God-fearing Boers who sang hymns of praise to the Lord of Hosts before going into battle, were badly licked. Oh, my dear friends, all we can do is leave the thought with you. It is too confusing for us.

A GOOD FARMER IS A GOOD PLANNER

It's the man who looks ahead who gets ahead.

GOOD management . . . essential to successful farming, as to any business enterprise . . . is largely a matter of timely marketing and careful spending . . . waiting for the time when it is most favourable to buy.

We all want things now . . . things we have not been able to get for the past several years. Some of these things are necessities . . . some are things that will contribute to our comforts and pleasures.

Eventually, these things will be more plentiful. By waiting a little longer we will help to keep prices of things we need at lower levels and we will buy at better advantage when we do buy.

Meantime we can invest our savings in the safest securities obtainable . . . Victory Bonds. More Victory Bonds will be offered this Fall. They pay 3% interest . . . double bank interest . . . and they are "liquid capital".

If we need cash in an emergency any bank will buy Victory Bonds at any time. And any bank will loan money on Victory Bonds.

The Ninth Victory Loan will be our last opportunity to buy Victory Bonds for a whole year, so buy double this time—the same rate of savings as in previous loans will pay for twice as many bonds over the 12 month period.

FARMERS CAN BUY VICTORY BONDS ON CONVENIENT DEFERRED PAYMENTS THROUGH ANY BANK

. . . just sign a short form letter which Victory Loan Salesmen carry (banks have copies) ordering the bank to buy Victory Bonds for you. Pay 5% when ordering and the balance at any time during the next 12 months. The interest the bonds earn pays the interest on the bank loan.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Messrs. Morrison and Olsen, are pleased to announce that they have taken over the business of Mr. W. H. Turley, Massey Harris dealer in Vulcan.

The business will be carried on in the same location and an invitation is extended to everyone in the district to call and get acquainted with Messrs. Morrison and Olsen.

Mr. Morrison has been Massey Harris dealer in Lethbridge for the past six years. Mr. Olsen has been a service man for the Company for the past eighteen years and is fully competent to handle all tractor service.

Increase Farm Machinery

R. W. Gallup, administrator of farm machinery, who has been in the west, says that 24% more farm machinery will be available in the coming year.

In Western Canada the greatest demand is for tractors, combines, swathers, one-way discs and pressure water systems.

The biggest job of the government administration at the present time, he said, was in price control. Manufacturers' costs had increased and pressure for higher selling prices was coming from that direction. And farmers with more money than usual and with their old machines wearing out, were also exerting pressure on the price controls. Prices have been strictly limited to the 1941 level, and quality has been maintained.

All restrictions on the production and importation of machinery were lifted Aug. 21. However machine companies already had their production schedules fairly solidly fixed. Both Canadian and American producers are increasing their output by 24 percent. American companies, anxious to maintain their relative position in the Canadian market, are giving their Canadian customers the same rate of increase as the American farmers.

Na tractors are made in Canada, said Mr. Gallup.

George McWilliams received radio congratulations on Sept. 27 on the occasion of his 78th birthday.

Donald Gordon warns that price controls on textiles will continue for some months. Sugar rationing will be strict for at least 18 months. As long as price controls continue the 1941 price levels will hold.

Any kind of clothing is urgently need for people of war-torn lands.

Victory Bonds Liquid Assets

Victory Bonds are liquid assets, i.e., they are as good as cash. More over, according to G. F. Towers, Governor of the Bank of Canada, "Canada has declared her intention of following monetary policies . . . which assure a ready and stable market for Victory Bonds at all times."

Victory bonds can be used as security against a bank loan for personal or business purposes. The loan will be granted for any period and without question by any bank merely on deposition of bonds sufficient to cover the loan. The rate of interest charged is 3 1/4%, the lowest at which money can be obtained. In the same way Victory Bonds can be posted to secure money necessary to undertake community enterprises. There is record of groups of farmers undertaking co-operative ventures using capital secured on bonds deposited by members for that purpose. Such ventures may have to do with farm production such as the purchase of a community machine or distributing plant; or they be social and recreational. An urban community has financed building of a church in this way.

Plan Expenditures to Save Money

It is suggested above that a portion of farmers' savings invested in Victory bonds, must be considered as a fund out of which replacements and repairs are to be made. However, many of the articles required in the reconstruction programme will not be available in quantity or at normal prices for two or three years. Hence the proper timing of expenditure is essential if the farm and its equipment are to be restored at reasonable cost. In other words, the purchasing power of present savings will be increased if hasty buying is avoided. Farmers would be well advised to plan to make expenditures for replacements over a number of years.

GOING TO VULCAN

Max R. Morrison, Massey-Harris dealer in Lethbridge, is leaving the city to reside at Vulcan. Mr. Morrison is going into partnership with Emil Olsen in the Massey-Harris agency at Vulcan. Mr. Olsen has been with the company at Calgary and Lethbridge since 1927.

Mr. Morrison came to the city from Calgary in 1939 and he has been active in the life of the city. In addition to his business interests, he has been vice-president of the Kiwanis Club for two years a member of the session of Southminster United Church and president of the Lethbridge Auxiliary War Services for three years.

"We regret to leave Lethbridge and our many friends here but we are going to a good town and district," said Mr. Morrison, who, with his partner will take over the Vulcan business Sept. 24.—Lethbridge Herald.

Fix Wheat Floor For Five Years

Price of Wheat Will Not Fall Below $1.00 for Next Five Years, Based on No. 1 N. Ft. William or Vancouver

An important announcement for Canadian wheat growers has been Trade Minister MacKinnon's statement that the export price of Canadian wheat would be $1.55 and that during the next five years the government will guarantee not less than $1.00 a bushel. These prices are based on No. 1N at Ft. William or at Vancouver.

The export price of $1.55 may be changed from time to time, but there will be no change in the floor price of $1.00 before 1950. There is no change suggested in the present initial payment of $1.25 by the wheat board and the participation certificates entitle the grower to share in any profits the board will make on the wheat of any crop year.

Under the present quota the Wheat Board accepts only 14 bushels per authorized acre and any surplus over this which the grower may have is disposed of as he sees fit.

In view of the world shortage at present, it is possible that the government may take all wheat offered at fixed price. But this was not suggested in Mr. MacKinnon's first announcement.

It was his opinion that it was better not to take advantage of world shortage by setting hold-up price. Reasonable prices would encourage purchase of Canadian wheat by foreign countries after present emergency is relieved.

George Church of Balzac, president of the U.F.A. has expressed approval of the adoption of the long term minimum price saying also:

"There will be general satisfaction among farmers, particularly in view of the announcement that a price of $1.55 has been set for wheat bought by Britain. It must not be overlooked that the world price has been higher for some time than the $1.25 initial payment being made by the Wheat Board."

"The U.F.A. believes that stability in the price of farm products will be a great factor in post-war reconstruction and that even if it should require a bonus policy to maintain that stability all Canada would benefit by it."

"We also favor a continuation of delivering on a quota basis. It is the only fair method of marketing under existing conditions."

FIRE PROTECTION ON THE FARM OR RANCH

National Fire Prevention Week is observed throughout Canada and the United States early in October, fostered by the various Fire Prevention agencies, including the International Association of Fire Chiefs, and the Canadian Fire Chiefs' Association, in an endeavor to reduce the annual fire losses of life and property in Canada and the United States.

Through continued educational programs and the development of efficient fire fighting forces and equipment, losses continue to be reduced in the urban communities.

But the toll of life and property in the rural communities has not shown the same marked decline.

Almost every day one reads in our daily newspapers of the loss of life and valuable property on the farm and in small rural communities.

What thinking individual would think of starting the coal stove in the morning with a stick of dynamite? Yet, we continually read of some thoughtless individual starting the fire with coal-oil and losing their life as a result of the attending explosion.

A gallon can of coal-oil or kerosene, under the proper conditions, is equivalent to a ton of dynamite in its explosive force.

Due to isolation, and lack of organized fire fighting equipment, great care should be exercised by the farmer, rancher and his employees, at all times, to prevent the occurrence of fire.

Some Fire Prevention Reminders

1. Handle gasoline and kerosene with care at all times.
2. Don't light fires with kerosene. If you do, you can almost be sure that you will ring the bell at the "Pearly Gates!"
3. Make sure that all heating appliances work properly, the pipes are clean, and the proper air space is allowed between pipes and walls, or partitions, with proper collars entering walls and chimneys.
4. Care with cigarettes, matches—"Break the match" to be sure it is out.
5. Don't fasten barbed wire to your building. Lightning may be conducted, and fire result.
6. Don't neglect to fire guard your hayfields, granaries and other buildings.
7. Keep a ladder, axe and pail easily accessible FOR FIRE ONLY.

Soap manufacturers are cutting out giant packages of soap flakes, and available supplies of soap are only sufficient for current demands. There have been visible shortages, but the different varieties of laundry soap are not so evident as in the past.

Foothills Board School Time

Commencing Oct. 1 Standard Time in Operation. Teach Appointments, Resignations. Renew Public Liability Insurance

Teaching staff, van route operation, dates of annual sub-divisional meetings and other matters were dealt with at the regular September meeting of the Foothills School Division Board.

Regarding school opening hours under standard time, the decision was made that divisional schools would open at 9 a.m. Standard time commencing October 1.

It was also decided to renew Public Liability Insurance on vans of Ranaghan and Gould, Calgary.

The Little Bow War Workers submitted a petition asking that the Little Bow school be not sold, as the building in question is used by the organization in connection with Red Cross activities. The board decided not to dispose of the school.

Following divisional property recently advertised as open for tender, was disposed of: Little Bow barn, D. W. Macdonald; Richmond Hill barn, R. Jackson; Thigh Hill barn, Robert Todd.

The tender of Norman Soder, Vulcan, for operation of the Sunny Lake school van route was accepted and a three-year contract entered into with Mr. Soder.

Roy Peckham was appointed caretaker of Ridgeview school.

Resignations from Mrs. Jean Cooper of Mossleigh school, and Miss Ruth Hanna of Highwood school were accepted.

The following teachers were appointed to the teaching staff of the Division as at Sept. 10th, 1945: Miss Elma B. Dearing, Miss Wanda M. Dase, Miss Anna Krigovsky, Miss Lillian Hayes, Miss Agnes Lyness, Miss Margaret Green, Mrs. Helen I. Westersund, Mrs. Jean N. Gilchrist.

A letter was read from the Provincial Savings Office, Province of Alberta, regarding Savings Certificates totalling $675.00 held by the Division and decision made that they be redeemed.

Dates of annual sub-divisional meetings were set as follows:

- Sub-Div. 1—Windy Hill school, Monday, Nov. 26th.
- Sub-Div. 2—Cayley Home Ec. building, Tuesday, Nov. 27th.
- Sub-Div. 3—Mossleigh High School building, Mossleigh, Wednesday, Nov. 28th.
- Sub-Div. 4—Brant Home Ec. building, Thursday, Nov. 29th.
- Sub-Div. 5—Reid Hill school, Friday, Nov. 30th.

"IN MEMORIAM"

Lieut. John Albert Anderson
KILLED IN ACTION

In loving memory of Lieut. John Albert Anderson who was killed in action in Holland, October 9th, 1944.

'Neath a small white cross in Holland
Lies Johnny—our love.
Mom's, Dad's, Phyllis' and mine.

Mom's first born and only son,
The joy of her life now his is done;
She was counting so on his safe return,
Now with the thought, tears her eyes do burn.
He was a baby when the last war was fought and won,
And in her heart she prayed that her son
Would grow up in a world of peace—
Such was not to be.

Dad's pride and joy,
How he loved that boy,
And loves him still,
Though he ne'er will
Return to fill within Dad's heart.
The place of honor which earth imparts
Twixt man and son
Till our journey's done.

Phyll lover him dearly, was to be his wife
When he came back from the bitter strife.
She'll ne'er forget, and like so many,
Will carry on, though her heart be heavy.
'Tis true that time may ease the pain,
But ever in dreams he'll be with her again.

My only brother, and a wonderful one,
No other brother under the sun
Could take his place in this heart of mine.
I remember the day he went away,
Now, it seems just like yesterday.
There were tears in his eyes, and in mine, too,
I found it hard to say, "Take good care of you".

Our memories are clear and bright,
Gilded now with everlasting light.
We are all so very proud of him,
For he gave his life in the battle's din
Against the forces of hate and sin.
Our hearts ache, and we bemoan
That Johnny will not come marching home.
His just reward, he deserves the best,
He'll find with God—Peace and Rest.

Our prayer as the Lord eases our hearts in pain
Is the prayer of many who say-over and over again,
Dear God—let him not have died in vain.

Lovingly remembered by Mother, Dad, Gladys and Phyllis.

The Wheat Pools have brought about narrowed price spreads as between grades, as between tough and dry grain and as between street and carload lots.

Wheat was handled in the 1944-45 crop year on a narrower margin than has ever existed in North America and probably in the world.

It is the duty and privilege of the grain producers of this province to deliver their wheat to

Hutterites Buy Montana Land

The Milford Hutterite colony south of Raymond has purchased 10,000 acres of land near Great Falls, Montana, to establish a branch of the colony in Montana. Under provincial law to Hutterite Brethren cannot buy additional land in Alberta, and they are said to be looking to United States.

The Melford colony bought the Ray Knight ranch, and it is now one of the largest in the province. The Pelger colony, near Leth-bridge, has also bought Montana land near Lewiston beside another Hutterite colony.

The Hutterites migrated from South Dakota to Western Canada after the first world war. There is now a chance that they are looking again to United States.
